Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 04 Aug 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers for many, some heavy but also some warm sunshine.

Today:
Many areas starting dry, odd mist patches clearing. Showers developing across various areas by afternoon, some heavy, particularly across some northern and central parts of the UK, with thunder and hail in few locations. Feeling warm in sunnier interludes.

Tonight:
Daytime showers will fade after dusk, leaving much dry weather after midnight but still rather cloudy skies, keeping temperatures up. Northwestern areas see continued risk of heavy rainfall.

Thursday:
Fairly cloudy across most areas although early sunshine in the east. Bands of rain and showers crossing most areas, heavy especially in the west. Breezier. Cooler in the west.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Remaining unsettled with further showers and longer spells of rain. Some of these will be heavy and thundery, especially across the north. Breezy at times and still rather cool.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.